Human Rights: a path to peace

The conference will take place on Saturday 10 March 2007 between 10.30am and 4.30pm in the Priory Rooms, Friends Meeting House, Bull Street, Birmingham, B4 6AF.

It will provide practical ideas, support and inspiration for anyone interested in teaching human rights as a way to promote peace at school, in communities and globally.

Teachers, trainee-teachers, students, youth workers and curriculum planners are particularly welcome.

Workshops will include:

1 Should the Military be Teaching our Children Science?

~Dr Stuart Parkinson, Director, Scientists for Global Responsibility (SGR).

2 Peace Education through Human Rights Education

~Laura Morris, Education Development Coordinator, Amnesty International UK.

3 Open Spaces for Dialogue & Enquiry

~Vanessa Andreotti, OSDE Project Coordinator, Nottingham University.

4 Conscientious objection to war: routes to learning human rights

~Oliver Haslam, (former) Education Officer, Peace Pledge Union.

5 EAPPI workshop - title to be confirmed

~Ecumenical Accompaniment Programme in Palestine & Israel (EAPPI).

6 Liberty workshop - title to be confirmed

~Liberty.

About the Peace Education Network

The Peace Education Network (PEN) brings together peace education practitioners and others committed to promoting education for peace.

PEN works to encourage the development of knowledge, skills and attitudes necessary for exploring, making informed decisions about, and exercising responsibilities and rights in a democratic society.

The network organises an annual peace education conference and coordinates approaches to curriculum development and the effective distribution of resources to teachers and others working in the field.
